Vienna, May 6, N. S.

THE Queen having ordered a conſiderable Number of Foot from Croatia to march to Sileſia, the firſt Column of them, conſiſting of One thouſand and fifty Men, arrived Yeſterday in the Neighbourhood of the Favorita, where being drawn up this Morning, her Majeſty went to ſee them paſs in Review, being accompanied by the Archdutcheſſes Mary-Ann and Magdalen, as alſo by her Conſort the Great Duke of Tuſcany, his Brother Prince Charles, with many of the Nobility and Perſons of Quality, and they made a very fine Appearance. They are quartered in the Neighbouring Villages, and To-morrow will proceed on their March to Sileſia. The ſecond and third Columns of the ſaid Infantry are expected here in two or three Days. The Regiments of Foot of Wurmbrand and Waldeck, a Battallion of the Regiment of Maximilian Staremberg, the Regiment of Dragoons of Olonne, and the Regiment of Curiaſſiers of Palfi, are alſo on the March to join the Army commanded by Field Marſhal Neiperg. Lieutenant General Count Daun is gone to the Army to ſerve under that Field Marſhal.

Berlin, May 9. On the 7th Inſtant Captain Sydow, of the Regiment of Prince Charles, arrived here Expreſs from the King's Army in Sileſia, with the News, that the Town and Fortreſs of Brieg ſurrendred on the 4th Inſtant to his Majeſty upon Capitulation. The Governor has engaged never to ſerve againſt the King, and the Garriſon not for two Years.

Oporto, April 14. On the 9th Inſtant his Britannick Majeſty's Sloop the Bonetta chaſed on Shore between Villa de Conde and this Place, a Spaniſh Veſſel; but the great Surge then on the Shore, and for two Days afterwards, prevented the Bonetta's ſending her Boat to burn her; but ſhe appeared to be bulged, and was ſtripped of her Maſt and Rigging.

From on board the Rye in the Tagus, April 27. On the 19th Inſtant we took a ſmall Spaniſh Brigantine, who upon our purſuing of her anchored within the Waſh of the Shore between Villa de Conde and Oporto; but her Crew made their Eſcape on Shore in their Boat.

Whitehall, May 12.

Laſt Sunday, about Ten in the Morning, arrived a Meſſenger with an Account, that the King landed at Helvoetſluys on Friday the 8th Inſtant in the Evening, between Eight and Nine a-Clock, having had a very fine Paſſage from England.

Sir Charles Wager left Helvoetſluys about Ten of the Clock on Saturday Morning, and on Sunday about Two in the Afternoon came to an Anchor at Deptford in the Catherine Yacht; having ordered the Squadron of Men of War under his Command, which had convoyed his Majeſty, to their proper Stations.

Yeſterday Morning the Lords Juſtices met at the Cockpit, and opened their Commiſſion. Their Excellencies have been pleaſed to appoint John Couraud and Andrew Stone, Eſqrs. to be their Secretaries.
